

I AM A VETERAN.

MY VICTORY IS CREATING BEAUTY FROM BLINDNESS.

While serving in Vietnam, a grenade took Michael Naranjo's eyesight. His fingers became his new way of seeing. Starting with a lump of clay, he learned to create objects of beauty with his hands. Today, he's a successful sculptor. Each year, DAV helps more than a million veterans like Michael in life-changing ways – helping them to get the benefits they've earned.
